

HEARING LOSS & DEMENTIA

What Maine Residents Need to Know

Hearing loss is one of the leading modifiable risk factors for dementia, yet many people remain unaware of the connection.

ZOOM

When: May 21 | 7:00-8:30 p.m.

Registration: Info@HearingLossMaine.org

Captions Included

The event is open to the public and will include time for questions.

The presentation will be lead by Dr. Jaime A. B. Wilson, a Deaf prescribing medical psychologist and board-certified neuropsychologist who specializes in the relationship between hearing loss and the brain.

Dr. Wilson is the author of books on hearing loss, dementia and caregiving including Preserving the Etching of the Mind, and Bridge of Time.

Sponsored by:

The Hearing Loss Association of America is a nationwide community providing education, connection and support for people with hearing loss.

The Downeast Chapter services communities across Maine.

www.HearinLossMaine.org